DETAILED ACTION

Status of Application

Claim 1 is pending and presented for examination.

Reopening of Prosecution

In view of the appeal brief filed on 11/13/2009, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. A new ground of rejection is set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) initiate a new appeal by filing a notice of appeal under 37 CFR 41.31 followed by an appeal brief under 37 CFR 41.37. The previously paid notice of appeal fee and appeal brief fee can be applied to the new appeal. If, however, the appeal fees set forth in 37 CFR 41.20 have been increased since they were previously paid, then appellant must pay the difference between the increased fees and the amount previously paid.

A Supervisory Patent Examiner (SPE) has approved of reopening prosecution by signing below:

/Michael Barr/

Supervisory Patent Examiner, Art Unit 1792.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see appeal brief, filed 11/13/2009, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Cantacuzene (U.S. Pat. No. 6224692).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

1. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cantacuzene (U.S. Pat. No. 6224692) in view of Sander et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 4228200).

Regarding claim 1, Cantacuzene teaches a method comprising guiding a metal strip through a furnace snout immersed in the metal bath and guiding the metal strip around a deflecting roller in the metal bath, such that the metal strip emerges from the metal bath at the top (abstract and Figure 1). Cantacuzene further teaches having argon present in the furnace snout above the metal bath that will serve as an isolating gas (abstract and column 1, lines 5-18) with hydrogen to provide a non-oxidizing environment. Cantacuzene fails to explicitly teach using argon with admixtures of butane and/or propane as the isolating gas.

However, Sander teaches a method for controlling the metal coating of strips (abstract) in a metal bath, which may be a zinc bath (column 6, lines 24-27). Sander teaches the use of an atmosphere adjacent to the surface of the metal bath introduced across the width of the bath which is non-oxidizing and unreactive with the molten metal, which may be butane or propane (column 8, lines 29-38). Sander teaches that this metal bath serves to maintain the bath surface in a substantially clean condition (column 8, lines 52-56).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Cantacuzene's method by utilizing argon with admixtures of propane and/or butane as an isolating gas, as is disclosed by Sander. One would have been motivated to make this modification as one of ordinary skill in the art could have additionally added either butane or propane to Cantacuzene's argon/hydrogen gas with a reasonable expectation of success (note that both Cantacuzene and Sander teach the use of their gases over surfaces of molten zinc baths) and the predictable result of providing an isolating gas to suppress evaporation of zinc above the metal bath. Furthermore, one would have been motivated to make this modification as Sander teach that their gases will also provide a non-oxidizing environment above the zinc (see Sander at column 8, lines 36-37 and 52-56), therefore helping to alleviate zinc oxidation and deterioration of the zinc melt in the tank.
